THE LOST IS FOUND.

The Tragic Loss and Recovery of a Time-

Yesterday morning between 6 and 7 'clock a countryman, Mr. M. M. Hitchtock by name, while peacefully sleeping cock by name, while peacetimy sieeping in Cardwell's stables, on Eighteenth street, was robbed of his coat, vest and watch. Mr. Hitchcock had brought in a load of produce the night before, and put up his team at these stables. Becoming sleepy, he pulled off his coat and vest, and, making a pillow of them, surrendered himself into the arms of Mornbeus. Some time during the still Morpheus. Some time during the still watches of the morning, while Mr. Hitchcock's snores reverberated and re-echoed man of dishonest proclivities happened along, and hearkening to the meiodious notes of the aforesaid Hitchcock's nasal organ, bethought himself that this chance to amass lucre had been sent him by the Goddess of Fortune, and was not to be neglected. Accordingly, with the gentleness of a mother handling her babe, he raised the head of the her babe. sleeper, and, removing the habiliments, replaced it gently upon the stable floor. He then betook himself to flight, bearing the raiment under his arm. In the aforesaid garments was a massive doubte-case sliver watch, which had long reposed in the pocket of Mr. Hitchcock, and ticked off the seconds as they fled into bered on, until the rays of the morning him again to the cares and trounce of the world. Sitting up, he rubbed his eyes, and glancing around, soon became conscious of the loss of those garments which had been his joy and pride. He straightway arose, and all dismantled as he was, betook himself to the Old as he was, betook himself to the Old Market and up the winding stairs, where he found the blue-clad citizens who carry he found the blue-clad citizens who carry clubs, and besought them to listen to his tale of woe. The knights of the club and shield lent an attentive ear to his wall, and promised him prompt redress. They straightway sent for John T. Hall, the man to whom the pawn-shops and alleys of Richmond are as an open book, and urged him to pursue the thief and recover Mr. Hitchcock's galment and halfloom.

recover Mr. Hitchcock's callient and helrloom.

Accordingly, the sergeant went forth, and listening intently in front of Harfeld's pawn-shop, on Seventeenth street, soon recognized the melodious tick of Mr. Hitchcock's time-piece. He entered 'n, and, whispering a few words to the proprietor, emerged bearing in his hand the valued relic. A few minutes after Sergeant Hall's departure an individual, who rejoices in the name of Henry Williams, entered the shop, carrying in his arms the mourned-for coat and vest. Mr. Harfeld detained him, talking about the financial stringency and the gubernatorial prospects, until the guardians of the peace arrived. Mr. Hitchcock, clothed and in his right mind, and with the watch ticking joyfully in his pocket, wended ticking joyfully in his pocket, wended his peaceful way to his home, beneath the waving pines of Henrico.

NEW YORK, August 4.-There was a radical change in the temper of speculation at the Stock Exchange to-day. In the early trading prices yielded 1/2 to 3 per cent, chiefly on account of the bank troubles in St. Paul and the scarcity of currency, which excited fears among timid operators as to the future of the money market. The decline added materially to the short interest, and for this reason probably the bulls offered little opposition to the raid. After prices had yielded, large buying orders we placed, and in less time than it takes tell it, the decline was recovered and the market generally was on a higher evel than last night's closing. During the afternoon another reaction ensued, but towards the close speculation as sumed a positively buoyant tone, and there was a small-sized bear panic. The there was a small-sized bear panic. The shorts, when they wanted to cover, found that stocks were not to be had readily, and in their haste to retrieve themselves they bid prices up on each other. The belief that arrivals of gold from Europe next week will relieve the money pres-sure, and that Preident Cleveland's message will have a reassuring effect in financial circles had much to do with the sharp upward turn. The advance was equal to 1/267 per cent. General Electric rose 7. Chicago Gas 6%. Northwestern 6%. Rock Island 5%. Sugar 5%. St. Paul Lake Shore 5, Pullman 5, Cotton Oil Louisville and Nashville 4%, Manhattan 4%, Jersey Central 4, Lackawanna 4, Burlington and Quincy 4, and Western Union 3%. Just prior to the close Gen-eral Electric and Northwestern reacted 14 to 114 per cent., but the general market left off strong at or near the top prices of the day and week. A marked exceptlon was Union Pacific, which shows a net loss for the day of about 1 point on the talk about a receivership. CHICAGO, II.I., August 4.—It was an uneasy, feverish day in the wheat pit. Trading was scant. Prices ran up and down several times within a range of 1%c, and left off about %c, lower than or, Tuesday before. Corn averaged strong and closed bc. higher. Provi-sions were in the main firm, but dull. The Walker failure came too late in the day to be a factor, but it has been more or less discounted for some time. The opening for September was Welle, lower than y sterday's closing figures, then advanced bc., declined %c., rallied %c., declined bkc., held steady and the closing was of medium figures. The weaker opening was due to the bank failure at St. Paul, reported in the morning papers, some cholera scare and ruof trouble in mercantile here. Cables were lower, which helped to weaken the market. But the large clearances and buying orders had the effect of changing the decline and prices were advanced, then eased off again on more bank failures in the Northwest. Operators seemed inclined to buy, but the disquieting rumors had a bad effect. and no prospects of any. The shorts e alarmed at the outlook for the Initial transactions were a trifle advanced, but it was not long under the urgent demand and the limited offer-ings before the price sold up %c. for September and 1%c. for May, the latter delivery being the strongest, and the premium is still widening. The price held firm for a while, eased 5c., railied %c., changed some, and the close for September was %c. higher and May %c. The cash situation is a drawback, as the ight money market is effecting shipping and August did not advance in proportie to the other futures. Oats averaged higher, advanced %2%c., and closed at twilder, below the top. There was a fair trade. The strength came mostly from corn. Trade in provisions was confined almost entirely to those who are interested in the manufacture of products. The syndicate, Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Nelson, Morris & Co., could

DISSOLUTION AND CO-PARTNERSHIP.

DISSOLUTION OF COPARTNERSHIP The insurance firm of GEORGE D. PLEASANTS & SON is this day dissolved by mutual consent. GEORGE D. PLEASANTS, ARTHUR L. PLEASANTS.

COPARTNERSHIP.

ARTHUR L. PLEASANTS and CHARLES S. CRENSHAW have this cay formed a copartnership under the firm name of iPLEASANTS & CREN-SHAW, and will conduct the insurance business in all its branches. They succeed to the business of George D. Pleasants & Son, and will occupy the old office, at 1104½ cast Main street, and represent the same old strong companies, viz.: Agricultural, as general agent; Sun Caledonia, Greenwich, Hamburg Bremen and Niagara. They solicit the patronage of their friends and the public generally, and hope by close attention to business to fully merit it.
PLEASANTS & CRENSHAW.

Referring to the above. I would say that having sold my interest and good will to Messrs. PLEASANTS & CREN-SHAW, I bespeak for them a continu-ance of the liberal patronage which my friends have so long bestowed upon the late firm, with confidence that their interest will be fully protected. Either party will sign the firm name in winding up the business of the old fire GEORGE D. PLEASANTS. aul-tu.sa.su3t
